M'GOVERN AND EKERN TO ABIDE DECISION

Supreme Court's Ruling Expect Last of Month Will Settle Controversy Once and For All.

Madison, Wis., May 19.—The impression prevails among the lawyers that when the supreme court passes upon the McGovern-Ekern controversy, which it is expected to do on May 21, it will pronounce upon the title to the office and that its decision will be accepted by the parties to the issue and thus put an end to the long drawn out controversy. In the re-arguments for which the court called, last week, the attorneys went deeply into this phase of the question. It seemed to be the feeling of the court that if it did not pass upon the title to the office it would simply result in more litigation before the court and a further rehearsal of much of the ground over which it had gone.

Mounted police guarding street cars in Cincinnati.

Hundreds of mounted police are maintaining order in Cincinnati while the street car strike is in progress. Four policemen have been assigned to each car, while a large number of patrolmen line the curbs along the street car lines that are now being operated.

Very few persons ride in the cars, preferring safer methods of travel.

The striking street car men were higher wages and point to the fact that they are not paid as well as the street car employees of Columbus and Cleveland.

NEW BRIDGE WIDER THAN PRESENT ONE

Will Have Breadth Five Feet Greater and Be Made Thirty Feet Shorter on West Side.

Fifty-four feet will be the width of the new reinforced concrete bridge across Rock river on Milwaukee street according to City Engineer C. V. Kerch, the designer. This is five feet wider than the old bridge, now partially demolished. The east end of the bridge will be thrown farther south and the west end to a slight extent so that the center of the bridge will be nearer to the center between the building lines as they exist.

The length of the new bridge will be about thirty feet less than the old one, bringing it in line on the west side with the existing concrete wall between the two Jefferson buildings. Between this point and the bank a fill will be made.

Four fifty-two foot spans will be used. The arches will be of uniform curvature and of the same type, approaching a mean between an ellipse and a segment of a circle.

They will have a seven foot rise. The footings of the piers will be ten foot wide and the piers will narrow to four foot, each inches at the spring line, the point where the arch begins.

The floor, not including pavement, will be sixteen inches thick at the crown of the arch, and the bottom will be thirty-three inches below the surface of the paved roadway. The area of the arches will be filled with gravel and sand and brick pavement will be laid on a concrete base. The sidewalks are to be ten foot wide and provision will be made underneath them for conduits to carry gas and water pipes, electric light and power, and telephone wires. Whether the city will install the conduits and lease them or charge the companies a fixed sum for installing them has not been decided. Each sidewalk will be guarded by an ornamental balustrade.

Plans and specifications of the bridge are in the hands of the engineers of the Wisconsin Railway Commission for their inspection and approval, and a yet no response has been received from them. The commission's approval is required because tracks are to be laid upon the bridge.

It is hoped that an election for the issuing of bonds can be called by late in June, or at latest early in July. Three weeks' notice of such election must be given. The estimate of the cost of construction are not completed, but must be determined before an election is called.

TWO NORTHWESTERN ENGINES DERAILED SATURDAY NIGHT

Two switch engines of the Northwestern railroad company, were derailed Saturday night while switching at the corner of School and River streets. One of the engines had left the track at the sharp curve and the other one had been called out to aid in the work of putting the derailed locomotive back on the track and in the course of the work the other one went off.

The first engine had just finished switching cars in the Janesville Machine Company yards when for some unknown cause the locomotive left the track. The engine had been running at sufficient speed to rip up ties and track, making the work of placing it back on the track exceedingly difficult. After eight hours' delay the engine was placed back on the track and left for the roundhouse for slight repairs that resulted in the accident.

The trim lines, powerful motor and beautiful exterior attracted considerable comment among the people who seen the car. The gasoline motor occupied the fore part of the car and according to the engineer is capable of developing speed up to ninety miles an hour. The interior of the scot was finished in gold and had seating capacity for about forty passengers. It was appropriately named "Dan Patch."

Three new locomotives were sent to the northern divisions on an extra freight Sunday afternoon.

Charles McCaffery, who has been employed by the Northwestern in the freight office, has accepted a position in the claim department in the company's office in Chicago. Mr. McCaffery is well known in Janesville and his large number of friends wish him success in his position at Chicago.

Thirty Cars With Drum Corps and Eighty-Five Citizens Visit City This Noon.

There were eighty-five Rockford boosters and thirty cars and of course the veteran drum corps must be included, which made Rome howl shortly before noon today when they arrived at the Myers hotel and began their systematic boosting of their home, in particular the spring festival which comes June 2, 4, 5 and 6. They had a quartette with them which made as much music as an old fashioned callopie and with the distribution of banners, Rockford booklets, and so forth, they were a busy crowd. They dined at the Myers hotel, after parading the city and left shortly before two for the last lap of their trip which included Clinton and Illinois cities. This is the first of a three days' tour. All here were interested in the prospects of Janesville securing the state fair location and offered their services to go to Madison and help boost it if needed.

This wonderful Avery "Self-Lift" Engine Plow puts all the Hand Lever Plows out of date. Saves you the wages and board of a plowman. Saves you all the hard, back-breaking work of lifting and lowering the plows by hand levers at the end of each furrow. After weeks of worry and planning, Frank Chance has lined up the first installment of a fighting team. Note the fifteen-inning tie with the Clevelanders.

Cornell is said to have an extra good two-miler in Speiden, who has shown plenty of speed and reserve force in the early college brushes.

Two athletic recruits made their major league bow last week. Taff, a pitcher and Schank, a catcher. Both performed excellently and it looks as though Connie Mack has two more youngsters to fall back upon.

Young Shugrue, Leach Cross, Harlem Tommy Murphy—they are the leading candidates for the first title with Willie Ritchie, who says he will defend the lightweight title July 4th. Ritchie has been making $750 a week for 28 weeks on the Sullivan-Conscience circuit but has about finished up his engagements.

Most critics agree that batters are born not made, but that hope has been proven fallacious in the past few years. Take Carey of Pittsburgh, who in the minors never batted over .190 or .200. In the big show he's a strong stinger of the horseshoe. Also Bob Bescher of the Reds. Bescher was a right-handed hitter in the minors, but changed his style. He has become a dangerous batsman.

In 1907 and 1908 Frank Chance and Hugh Jennings were the whole show in the world's series. Now both are battling to keep out of last place in the American league race. Summer is on the way, but there is no dearth of boxing. Some big matches are on for the next few weeks, notably Mandot and Anderson at Vernon, Cal.; Klaus and Dillon at Indianapolis; Klaus and McGorty at New York; and McCarty-Pelkey at Calgary, Canada.

A new billiard star has developed during the past season—Ledyard Balke, a student at Grand Rapids, Mich., who has been playing remarkably well in New York matches. Maurice Daly, the veteran billiardist, has been teaching the boy, with the result that his form has steadily improved. Recently Balke in a series of games of 2,000 points finished with a grand average of 1.3. His high run was 112, but he had several in the seventies and eighties.

The big three hitting Giants—Myers, Doyle, and Werkle—have once more donned their batting raiment and are stinging the ball properly for singles and extra basers.

McLoughlin, Williams, Hackett and Little have been picked as the American tennis team to oppose the crack Australian team comprising Doust, Rice and Jones, in the international matches in June. McLoughlin holds the national championships in singles and doubles. Williams now is at Harvard where he was a winner the past season; Hackett is an assistant doubles player and Little has figured in all the international cup matches of recent years.

WHITE SOX DEFEAT BELOIT NATIONALS

Local Team Springs Surprise on Line City Rivals—Cardinals Down
Beloit Moose in Close Game.

Beloit baseball team seemed to have suffered an off day for the Young Nationals of the Line City were forced to admit defeat after nine innings of interesting baseball against the Janesville White Sox by the score of 11 to 8. Errorless support, brainy pitching by "Jeff" Britt and heavy slugging enabled the Sox to push run after run across the plate.

Despite this handicap they played excellent ball, with plenty of control and good breaks on his curves. The White Sox were forced to go into the game with a crippled lineup, three of the players being out of town. Despite this handicap they played excellent ball, with plenty of control and good breaks on his curves. The White Sox were forced to go into the game with a crippled lineup, three of the players being out of town.

The Young Nationals were about twenty-five percent poorer players than was expected and were easy for the Sox to handle.

Hackett started the game but, as soon as the local batters began denting the atmosphere with long hard drives, he sought the quieter air of second base, while Kist took up the pitching duties. He was even easier than Hackett, the Sox slugging him delivery unmercifully during the sixth inning when they scored six runs putting the game on the ice. The White Sox showed good baseball stopping all drives and retiring the batters in short order. Britt depending mainly on his support. The Sox started their scoring in the second when Williams scored after he knocked a scorching double, in the third and such clean hitting and good base running put the Sox total up to ten, while their opponents could score but three. Britt showed signs of weakening in the sixth and seventh, especially during the lucky inning, when the Beloiters started a rally and made a desperate effort to tie the score. Britt, however, tightened up and stayed off defeat by fanning the Beloit sluggers. Beloit came back strong in the ninth but good fielding by Mullen and Lamphere cinched the game.

Two New Players. The Sox have added two strong players to their infield in Mullen and Lamphere and with Capt. Stickney in their line up they expect to defeat the majority of the teams in this section of the state. Britt is pitching the best ball of his career and will undoubtedly improve as the season grows older. The team expects to arrange games throughout the season and teams of Edgerton, Footville, Albany, and Beloit will have to go some to come out with the long end of the score against the Sox.

Summary. White Sox—French, c.; Britt, p.; Lamphere, ss.; McGinty, 1b.; Ryan, 2b.; Mullen, 3b.; McKelvey, rf.; Wills, cf.; and Flemming, lf. Young Nationals—Wootton, c.; Cunningham, c.; Hackett and Keith, p.; Grubbs, ss.; Hatcher, 1b.; Gibben, Hackett, 2b.; Buffington, 3b.; Wootton, Keith, cf.; Klugdon, lf.; Maloney, rf. Struck out by Britt, 8; by Hackett 4; Keith, 2. Hits—White Sox eleven, Young Nationals, six. Umpire, McGinty.

Cardinals Also Win. That the Janesville Cardinals have hit their winning streak is evident from their victory over the Beloit Moose team by the score of 4 to 2. The contest was held at West Park Sunday afternoon and a fair crowd was out to see the Beloiters go down in defeat before the stellar pitching of Burger and the perfect support of the Janesville infield.

The Beloit Moose team is considered about the best that the Line City can boast of and they had such a fine opinion of their baseball ability that they challenged the championship of less than Beloit and two pitchers in a vain endeavor to stop the slugging of the Janesville batters but neither of them were able to stop the Janesville batters from denting their delivery in the critical stages of the game. Rogers, Wootton and Gibben were the Beloit battery and are considered about the best that Beloit can produce.

The Cardinals started scoring in the second inning and several clean drives netted them a lead of one run up to the fifth inning. The Janesville team had their rivals by a three lead in the ninth, when the Moose pulled off many sensational plays and attempted to win the game in the ninth. The first three men reached bases, one of them scoring on a safe drive, when Burger put on a little extra speed and curves and fanned the next three men. From the snappy clean baseball that the locals put out it is certain from now on that they will make any team that Beloit can show go some to take their measure. Burger pitched excellent ball for the Cardinals, his mixing of the fast and slow ones and having something on the ball being the cover was the cause of ten Beloit sluggers to whiff.

Rogers started the game for the Beloit team but as soon as the Cardinals began hitting his straight ones he retired in favor of the hotheaded Wootton who also suffered great abuse in the hands of the local batters. The Cardinals' infield played without a slip and pulled off many sensational plays and the entire team has shown great improvement since last Saturday's game against the Van Patten's Colts. Defeated at Edgerton. When the sister school baseball

CADETS AND UMPIRE DEFEAT JANESVILLE

Local High School Team Loses Out at Delafield As a Result of Partial Decisions.

The Janesville high school baseball team met their first defeat on Saturday at the hands of the St. John's Military Academy of Delafield, Wisconsin. The score was five to three.

The game started with Connell pitching in favor of the seventh inning, by securing three runs to one for the cadets. Then the locals were robbed of their sure victory by the fire Smythe, who turned everything in the cadets' favor. He issued some impossible decisions which defeated the locals. An error by Edler in the eighth inning let one run cross the plate for the academy.

The game started with Connell pitching. Connell was effective at all times and the cadets never saw the ball for seven straight innings. At the end of the seventh inning the locals were up due to the poor decisions, which discouraged them, and Scouton, a cadet man, found Connell for a single. One more scratch hit was secured by the cadets in the same inning. Connell pitched a wonderful game and had fine support. James Stewart played errorless ball at second base. He took care of nine assists by fine playing, and caught several men at the plate.

Following the game the team departed for Watertown by the interurban, but they got there just one minute too late to catch the Northwestern train for Janesville. This meant that they would have to stay in Watertown for twenty-four hours. They returned home Sunday night.

St. John's were able to cross the plate for one run in the first inning on an error by Janesville. Janesville got to Murphy, the cadet southpaw in the second inning, and by the end of the sixth inning, he was forced to leave the mound. Kirk relieved him and he was no better. Janesville obtained six hits to the cadets' two. Hemming hit a double in the sixth inning, allowing H. Ryan and Edler to cross the plate. T. Stewart scored Janesville's other run.

The game was exceedingly interesting to watch, and the many cadets commented on it by announcing that Janesville had the better team and should have won. The diamond was in good shape and a drill by the cadets added to the interest of the game which followed. Connell struck out seven men during the game, and held them at his mercy. The lineup follows:

Janesville: J. Stewart, 2b.; J. Ryan, ss.; Edler, c.; H. Ryan, 3b.; Hemming, 1b.; L. Stewart, rf.; Falter, lf.; Kennedy, cf.; Connell, p.; Stickney, 1b. Delafield: Owen, ss.; Campbell, rf.; Scouton, lf.; Werkmeister, cf.; Wenzel, c.; Hartig, 1b.; Saunders, 2b.; Murphy, p.; Forbes, 3b.; Griswold, 3b.; Kirk, p. Score by innings: Janesville .. 0 0 1 0 2 0 0 0—3 6 3 St. John's .. 1 0 0 0 0 0 4 x—5 2 6 Runs—J. Stewart, Edler, H. Ryan, Owen, Campbell, Scouton, Kirk. Hits off Connell, 2; off Murphy, 5. In six innings; off Kirk, 1 in three innings. Bases on balls off Connell, 5; off Murphy, 1. Stolen bases: Janesville, 3.

Birds Die of Exhaustion.

More than a dozen birds, including an owl, wrens, thrushes and chaffinches, alighted exhausted on the deck of the steamer Caledonia, bound from Manchester to Boston. All except two chaffinches died immediately. They had, it is believed, been blown out to sea by a gale.

DIAMONDS AND THE TARIFF

Diamonds and precious stones have always been regarded as luxuries, and people who clamor loudest for free wool and free everything else, are unit in demanding that jewels be taxed to the limit. The object of heavy taxation is to increase the revenue and the argument used is that wealthy people who support diamonds, should be made to pay liberally.

Ignorance is responsible for a good many misunderstandings, and from a letter, recently sent to congress by the Importers of precious stones, it appears that the public generally is not well informed concerning this class of imports as revenue producers.

In 1892 the duty on precious stones was ten per cent and the importations that year amounted to about thirteen million dollars. In 1895 the duty was increased to 25 per cent where it remained until 1897, and importations fell off to less than three million dollars. Then the duty was again reduced to ten per cent, with uncut
 stones coming in free, and last year
 the imports increased to forty million dollars.

The importers claim that when the duty is more than ten per cent that the business goes into the hands of smugglers, and say that: "In fact, the amount of smuggling at the present rate of 10 per cent is so serious in its effects on the business of legitimate importers, that for several years our trade at its own expense, at a cost of many thousands of dollars per annum, has maintained an association (now
 the American Jewelers Protective Association), whose efforts are directed solely to co-operation with the special agents employed by the government, to detect and apprehend smugglers and yet it seems practically impossible to catch in the act of smuggling, individuals, whose methods of business are such as to afford strong grounds for suspecting the integrity of their relations with the government.

Mr. Curtis, assistant secretary of the treasury, Mr. Halstead, chief of the division of customs of the treasury department, Chief Wilkie of the United States secret service, and Mr.
 Wheatley, special agent United States treasury department in charge at New York City, are all on record that not more than 10 per cent duty on precious stones is collectable.

From the importers' standpoint, and they seem to be right, the higher the duty on precious stones, the less the revenue. Congress can afford to give the matter careful consideration.

THE STATE FAIR.

That the fight that Janesville is making to bring the state fair to this city is attracting attention throughout the state at large is evidenced by the editorial comment that the plan receives. It is natural that the question is one of importance to the state as a whole and particularly so to Rock county residents. The Beloit Daily News, in the following editorial, warmly endorses Janesville's aspirations and offers the aid of Beloit in securing the coveted honor. It is an evidence of the friendly feeling that Beloit expresses for the county seat that counts more than anything else, and all Janesville can do is to extend its thanks to the Link City and reciprocate
 if the opportunity ever comes.

"We admire the spirit and pluck shown by the citizens of Janesville in going after the state fair. We believe Beloit should help in this enterprise to the extent of her ability and influence. The slogan ought to be:
 'The fair for Rock county.'
 "Janesville is waking up. Put that down to her credit. She is boasting herself to beat the band. She is after bigger and better things for herself,
 and if she persists she will get them.

"Janesville is the only place in Rock county for the fair. It has the train service, which is an indispensable factor. It has ample grounds, high and dry and slightly elevated in the center of one of the richest agricultural districts in the state.
 "Many of those who go to Milwakee at state fair time never see the fair. Many of them go more to see Milwaukee than to see the fair. Some who go intending to see the fair can't get there because of poor car service.
 If the fair were at Janesville those who went would go to see the fair itself. Northern Illinois would contribute in great numbers, who would come here instead of going to Springfield. Automobile parties would run out from Chicago. The chances are that more people would see the fair at Janesville than now see it at Milwaukee.

"Beloit would benefit from the proximity of the fair. Many parties bound for the fair would pass through here, see our city and our industries and get an idea of what kind of a place Beloit is. Many would come here from Janesville for hotel accommodations. There would be no place in Rock county that would not benefit by the change.

"We should assume a broad minded attitude in this matter. We hope Janesville lands the fair, for we believe it would be for the good of the fair, Janesville and of Beloit."

UNFAIR TO THE STATE.

Wisconsin is unfortunate in having a dairy and food commissioner who discriminates against the best interests of the state in some of his rulings on food products.

The federal laws provide that all goods of this kind shall be plainly labeled, so that there may be no chance for deception, and dealers and producers throughout the country, cheerfully comply with these regulations.

Among this class of goods, extensively sold in many states, is corn syrup, and in every state but Wisconsin, the simple label passes muster, and is all that is required, but not so in Wisconsin, where an erratic official decides that the product must be labeled glucose, to comply with his construction of the law.

As a result, corn syrup is shipped into the state by wholesale grocers, properly labeled to meet federal requirements, while the wholesale dealers within the state are barred from handling it except under a glucose label.

These are the conditions which exist today and a bill is now pending in the legislature, to remedy the injustice. The attitude of the dairy and food commissioner, is so insane, on this proposition, that it is difficult to account for.

Corn syrup is a wholesome product and the federal government is satisfied to have it sold on its merits.
 There is no more sense in calling it glucose, than there would be in calling the label on pure Vermont maple syrup, "The State is not suffering from diluted food products, half so much as it is from diluted common sense, in the pure food department."

The Balkan allies taught the Ottoman empire the "turkey trot" was popular, but unfortunately they are now quarreling among themselves to decide which really should take the honor for the lesson.

Of course, the republican party received a severe jolt last November;
 but watch out for the same old party in 1916 when the democratic congress get through with this tariff tinkering.

Too bad that plan to offer the throne of Albania to Teddy fell through. He would make old Europe howl within the first year of reign.

It would not be so terrible when President Wilson swallows the statesmen if he did not do so with that sphinx-like smile of his.

One gathers that the great oratorical efforts of the United States senate are now to be found merely in the congressional record.

England complains of the rag-time invasion, but still submits to the millant suffragettes outrages mildly protesting.

In event it should become necessary
 doubtless Governor Hiram Johnson would shoulder a gun and march off to war singing psalms.

The little green postal cards will not have the bow behind. Thank fortune for small favors.

Intelligent men begin to realize that all joking aside war has become a decided nuisance.

PURE MOMENT

The Village Band.
 When I was young and in my prime,
 And that was back, oh yes, some time.
 There wasn't anything so grand
 As our own Silver Cornet band.
 The uniforms had much gold braid,
 And all the horses were afraid.
 The gay drum major wore a hat
 That weighed ten pounds, yes, all of that.
 Of generous design, 'twas built,
 And loaded down with sparkling gilt.
 His uniform was showered with gold
 And cost a fortune, we were told.
 He wore nice patent leather boots,
 And kept step with the umpire
 stomp.
 And whirled a stick high in the air,
 Which made the town folks gape and stare.
 The only thing that you could hear
 When our village band drew near,
 Were two noise makers quite alone.
 The bass drum and the slide trombone.
 They drowned out every other sound
 And could be heard for miles around.
 The music wasn't very grand,
 The clothes were what made up the band.
 They made a pretty sight and neat,
 When they came marching down
 Main street.
 We said: "They're lookin' great, by gum.
 Our town is surely goin' some."
 They handed us a lot of thrills,
 When they pulled off their fancy drills.
 And counter-marched and made the square.
 You couldn't beat 'em anywhere,
 The bands we had back in that day
 Could do most anything but play.

According to Uncle Abner,
 What has become of the old cocker who used to tap the maple tree in front of his house and keep the kids

away from the pail with a horse whip.
 Every time there is a vacant storeroom in our town somebody comes along and starts a new motion picture show.

Any fellow who is in the habit of losing his head doesn't lose much.
 When the world does catch on, that person will be inventing a new mouse trap.

Lenuel Higgins, a lifelong Democrat for almost six months, writes home from Washington that he will stay there until he gets a job. He has already borrowed $18 from our congressman. Wilson refuses to see him. The folks around here never could.

What is the use of talking about a uniform divorce law when nobody would want to wear the uniforms?
 The new style hats which are only a foot across, are so sensible that they will never become very popular with the fair sex.

We would rather be wrong than vice president, and we guess Tom Marshall would too.

Constitute Ezra Hand has got a new scheme for to catch the auto bugs that speed through our midst like a streak of greased lightning. He has sprinkled Main street with racks,
 the common council having appropriated 35 cents for that purpose, and now when the city fellows try to run through our village it sounds like a genuine imitation of the battle of Gettysburg. There was a forty-seven punctures and nineteen blowouts on Main street Sunday and three new repair shops have sprung up on that thoroughfare. Spire Stubbs is holding court day and night.

Signs of the Times.

There are 339 lawyers in congress and still the president hopes for a short session.

Cleveland has a dog that suffers insomnia. It has always been supposed that this ailment was confined to cats.

President lecturer says, Mexico has no sense of humor. Still, Mexico invented chili con carne.

All that is needed to make revolution complete is a group picture of Bryan and Champ Clark holding hands.

Camden N. J., hen laid an egg which contained a 5-cent piece, and still some people claim there is no money in poultry.

Henry Green's son has decided not to marry, after all. It seems too bad when he is one of the few who can really afford it.

It seems as though if all of the European powers banded together and fought their hardest they might whip Montenegro.

But up to the present moment the Colonel and Mr. Taft have not buried the hatchet.

Heart to Heart Talks

By JAMES A. EDGERTON.

OLIVER CROMWELL.

It has been more than 250 years since Cromwell played his stormy part in English history, yet his example and influence are still potent in all English speaking lands and to some degree in all other lands that feel the impulse toward democracy.

For Cromwell was the father of modern democracy, the forerunner of the age of republics.

We think of him as the iron man,
 but see only one side of his complex character. Lord Morley is the only biographer, outside of Carlyle, who really understood the great Puritan leader. Morley revealed this insight in a single phrase when he called Cromwell a "practical mystic."

For this iron man had the soul of a prophet and poet. He saw coming ages. Some one has called him a "dumb prophet." Dumb he was not, yet his speech was ever inadequate to voice his mighty vision of the movements toward political and religious freedom beyond his own times.

Cromwell was one of those rare characters who combined the spiritual and political vision. He was an evangelist carrying a sword. He was a preacher clad in armor.

Mistakes he made, of course—mistakes in Ireland, mistakes with his parliament—yet his mistakes came more from the age in which he lived than from the man himself. He had to create a republic out of raw material more than a century before the age of republics.

He had to hew his way with the sword in a time when reason would not avail. He had to kill the serpent of kingcraft in an era when mankind knew no rule but that of kings. He had to practice religious toleration in a time when the world knew not the meaning of the term.

Cromwell literally fought the devil with fire, not force by force and duplicity by duplicity. Yet through it all he kept his soul white.

Withal he was a man. He was true to the heavenly vision. He fought a good fight. He kept the faith. He was loyal to God and to humanity. It was his faith as well as his ironies that made him invincible.

Cromwell had the saving grace of common sense. He was practical in all things. One well known sentence of his reveals something of his two sided character:

"Trust God, but keep your powder
 dry."

It took the world two centuries to understand him, to remove the cloud of clumsy and lying calumnies heaped upon his great name.

Yet the ages do justice, and Oliver Cromwell, tall and white of soul, the great hearted soldier of God, is coming into his own.

Isohyets (dotted lines) pass through points of equal precipitation. Arrows show direction and force of wind. First figure, lowest temperature; second, second; third, maximum wind velocity.

The area of low atmospheric pressure that was passing over the upper lake region Saturday morning has now reached the Gulf of St. Lawrence. It has been attended by light squalls in New York, New Jersey, and northern New England.

An area of high barometer that was in the northwest last Saturday is now over the lake region and is accompanied by clear, cool weather. The area of low barometer in the southwest has developed by a center of great intensity that was over Colorado, and this appears to be about to move across the plains. This development is attended by showers and thunderstorms in the Missouri and flatter valleys, and throughout the northern Rocky Mountains, and plateau regions. Heavy rainfalls of 1.38 at Pierre and 1.34 at Huron. Prevailing winds in the Mediterranean are the cold northeast wind called the bora and the warm and moist southeast wind called the si-rocco.

The bora occurs both in cyclonic and anti-cyclonic conditions. In the first case the depression lies in the Mediterranean or in the Adriatic, and the weather is usually rainy. In the second case the bora is mostly restricted to the coastal districts and is very violent and gusty. The greatest velocity observed at Trieste was eighty-four miles an hour. During gusts the velocity exceeds 100 miles an hour. The sirocco also occurs both in cyclonic and anti-cyclonic conditions. In the former case the rainfall in the southern Adriatic reaches abnormal amounts, and near the gulf of Cattaro one of the wettest spots in Europe is to be found.
 The anti-cyclonic sirocco, caused by high pressure east and southeast of the Adriatic, is the more violent of the two, and is only occasionally accompanied by rain.

 "Well," replied the other, pounced one tage. "You can judge for yourself."

BY CHIEF OF POLICE

Replies to Criticism Made in Morning Paper—Denies Want of Night Police Protection.

Denial of the charge made in a morning paper that the presence of a police officer at the station between 12 p. m. and 6 a. m. left the citizens of Janesville without any means of calling an officer was made this morning by Chief of Police Appleby in a statement made to a Gazette representative.

"We have and always have had an understanding with the telephone operators of both companies that all calls for police officers made after twelve o'clock at night are to be forwarded to the night clerks at the Grand and Myers hotels. Our night officers make it a point to call regularly at these places when plying their beat so that one or the other can respond to a call on quick notice. It has never been the custom to keep an officer at the station during these hours. We do not have a sufficient number of them. To put one into the office would be to take one from his patrol or double that of the remaining officer."

"There is nothing secret about the dismissal of a portion of the prison police at night. The number of arrests, the offenses with which the arrested were charged, the number brought into court, and the number dismissed are shown in every monthly report of the department. A portion of the police are locked up to sober off, those against whom no formal complaint has been filed, and who have been in need of care rather than made themselves nuisances. It has never been since Janesville had a police force. The practice has met the approval of my predecessors and the public generally."

Speaking of the accusation that one man had been dismissed without trial although he was charged with chasing a girl, Chief Appleby said the morning paper had not made a correct or complete statement of the circumstances. Reardon, father of Mary Reardon, called up the station on Wednesday night and complained that the man had pursued her and her aunt when they were returning from church. He promised to appear the following morning and make out a complaint against Engle. The man was arrested the next morning but Mr. Reardon refused to fulfill his promise, nor would any of his friends appear in his stead. They explained that matters were not so serious as they had at first believed. The man was accordingly released since there was no legal right or reason to detain him longer.

TEN MOTOR TRUCKS ARE ORDERED FROM MONITOR COMPANY

First of Number Has Just Been Completed—Cars to be Shipped to All Parts of Country.

The Monitor Automobile Company have just completed the first one of an order for ten light delivery trucks which is for shipment through the Commercial Motor Company of Chicago, cars to be sent to St. Louis, Cleveland, Chicago and Los Angeles. The car itself is a model between the one ton truck and the very light delivery car with a capacity of 1000 to 1,300 pounds which readily finds place with retailers and light manufacturers and at its sale price of $955 is very popular.

This ten car allotment is an initial order from the Commercial Motor Company of Chicago and the Monitor people are offered an additional order of ninety cars making a total of 100 and have also an opportunity to close a deal with this same concern for up to 600 cars per year. In addition they have an opportunity to close a contract for export on this same car, with five years' conditional agreement which at the end of the fifth year, would mean 200 cars per year. They have a standing offer to furnish eighteen cars per month until otherwise instructed for shipment to California, and the Pacific coast representative, the Commercial Motor Company has not yet touched the state of Oregon and Washington; doubtless as many of these cars can be placed in those states as in California.

An order is offered from the Imperial Automobile Company of Canada for a sample lot of four of these cars with an additional offer to take 150 more.

The fulfillment of these orders, however, is dependant upon the assistance the Monitor company can secure from Janesville people. During the past two or three years it has met with some conditions in its own production which have made the further manufacture of the two cylinder car, which has been its principal model, an impossibility. The car for the style of car has been entirely changed so that the four cylinder model is the one in demand.

It is the plan of the company to continue with this material on hand to produce the four cylinder one-ton truck and to fill the orders for the smaller truck already spoken of and which is illustrated herewith so that the new Monitor Model can finally be put on the market.

In speaking of the affairs of the company, William Westerlund, manager of the plant, stated that all of the two cylinder models had been disposed of except three or four, and that in closing them out the institution had suffered to some extent, but that the future looked very bright from the fact that they were able to dispose of the number of cars and the smaller car which would make it possible for them to work out a future which should assure a permanent institution to Janesville.

A meeting of the stockholders has been called for Wednesday evening of next week to consider the situation and to arrange if possible a working plan by which the plant can be put on a basis to handle the business which stands ready to come to it.

Brighten Up Your Prospects

"I wouldn't give much for a man's prospects when he sends every cent he earns." This was said by a man who rose from journeyman to employer.

Many people think they can't save anything, so they don't try. Others TRY to save a little and find it easier than they had thought.

You don't know what you can do until you try. Test your ability to save for a few months and you'll find you can keep right on.

TO HOLD EXHIBITION OF STUDENTS' WORK

Handiwork of High School and Grade Pupils Will be Shown to Public
On Thursday Next.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Edgerton, May 19.—On Thursday of this week at the same time as the manual training exhibit takes place in the high school an exhibit will be held also in the grade buildings of the construction work and of the work in drawing which has been accomplished during the past year.

Bakery and weaving has been taught in all of the grades during the year and the results of the work are such as to warrant a thorough inspection by the residents of the community. The grade teachers have been working overtime to arrange for the exhibit and should be encouraged by a record breaking attendance.

In drawing during the past year the work has been under the supervision of an instructor sent out by the Prang Co. of Chicago. His work will also be on exhibit the drawing having been mounted and placed in such manner as to make the best possible display. Both exhibits are to be excellent examples of the work attempted in these lines and are deserving of hearty appreciation.

The exhibits are open to the public. The work of the teachers and pupils will be much encouraged and an impetus for even better work be given next year if a large attendance at the exhibits evidences a proper appreciation.

The Evening Chit-Chat
BY RUTH CAMERON

A NEW ANGLE.

AS I WAS walking across a very familiar bit of country the other day, I was struck by a new angle. It was a muddy sidewalk forced me to climb up on a high banking along there for a bit. It's an old road that blows nobody's socks, but I looked out from my new eminence across the familiar landscape and the tiny lake which I was skirting, I was struck by a new angle.

I have taken this walk many times, and the landscape has been familiar to me that I had forgotten how pretty it was. A light breeze along there for a bit. It's an old road that blows nobody's socks, but I looked out from my new eminence across the familiar landscape and the tiny lake which I was skirting, I was struck by a new angle.

will find that the most familiar country looks quite different.

So a new angle creates a new world.

Now this is not true merely of the things that we see with our physical eyes. What about the world of our mental vision? Is it not true that a new angle or a new point of view will change that vision as completely as it changes the things we see?

We are lifted out of our routine by some powerful emotion, or we climb up on to the eminence of sympathy, or some sweet influence teaches us to look at life from a happier angle, and behold, we see a new world.

Perhaps you are not getting the best angle on your life.

Try another one.

why some baked beans could be so good, and others so tasteless. I have given our recipe in a previous article and also for the brown bread. The beans should be steamed the day before; then all that is necessary is the re-heating. The beans should be soaked over night and then well-seasoned and baked with a little salt.

This is better done also on Saturday and then re-heated on Sunday, especially if there is no fireless cooker in the home. But if you are forced they may be soaked in cold water. Saturday night and Sunday morning made ready for the beans and baked in a very slow oven all day, with very little watching. The salad may be made of any of the seasonable green vegetables and served with a well-seasoned French dressing.

Make the shortcake as described in this week's article on "Shortcakes," using flour and butter together in the morning and setting away in the refrigerator, with strawberries also in readiness. When ready for supper, the shortcake will bake while setting the table, preparing the salad and making the coffee.

EVENING GOWN OF
OLD GOLD LIBERTY

Evening gown of old gold liberty. Bohemian, and mousseline de soie. Collar of lace cut to a deep V. In back square in front. Small draped shir of mousseline held together by ornamental. A large ornamental of the foundation skirt of fiber.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) When going to a dance, it is proper to give the party you go with all your own dress. If not, how many?

(2) Is he supposed to take all the extras, and not engaged?

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Does a girl of eighteen know what she is doing when she gets married to a boy eighteen?

She seldom does. The boy NEVER knows.

HOUSEHOLD
...HINTS...

Things Worth Knowing.

You can make a very good wax board by covering a small board with flannel and rub softened paraffine (not melted) well over the flannel. This will help to keep the iron from sticking.

If you are bothered with roaches or water bugs, mix powdered borax with sugar and set it about in saucers or sprinkle it under the pipes and on the sills. Also on the bottom of closets and drawers and they will eat it and die.

The Table.

Spanish Omelet—Take six eggs, a medium-sized tomato or a half cupful of canned tomatoes, a small onion minced fine, a dash of black pepper, three tablespoonfuls of milk, four or five mushrooms, a quarter of a pound of bacon, chopped fine, salt, spoonful of salt and a green pepper also minced. Cut the bacon into small pieces and fry until brown. Add the tomatoes, mushrooms, onion and green pepper and stir and cook fifteen minutes. Beat the eggs vigorously and season with salt and pepper. Put a half tablespoonful of butter in the omelet pan and let it melt. Tipping the pan so that the sides will be well greased. Pour in the eggs, stirred with the milk and shake over a quick fire until set. Now pour the mixture quickly from the other frying pan over the omelet, fold over once and turn into the center of heated platter. Sprinkle with a little minced parsley and serve at once.

Boston Brown Bread—1 cupful of flour, 1 cupful of yellow cornmeal, 2 cupfuls of Graham flour, 1 cupful of sour milk, 1 teaspoonful of sweet milk.

2 teaspoonfuls of baking powder, 1 egg, 1 teaspoonful of salt, 1 cupful of molasses, 1 1/2 teaspoonfuls of soda. Dissolve the soda in a little hot water, add the molasses and beat well, then add the salt, the egg well beaten, the sweet milk, the baking powder and white flour and beat again. Add the sour milk, the cornmeal and Graham flour and beat again. Steam in a tightly covered steamer, for three hours. Bake for twenty minutes.

Kidneys and Rice—Boil half a pound of rice in stock with one onion. Season with pepper, salt and a dust of red pepper. When the rice is tender and has absorbed all the stock stir in to it one egg and spread one inch deep on a plate. When cool cut in rounds and scoop out the centers. Then heat in a little stock. Skin, split and grill some sheep's kidneys, allowing half a kidney to each round of rice. Place the kidney on the heated rice, brush over with glaze, dish and pour brown sauce around.

Wrong Position.

"Now is the time of opportunities for able young men, why doesn't William come forward?"

"Guess it's because he's too backward."

Consistent Orders.

Guest—Bring me a bottle of your best wine.

Waiter—This place is "dry," sir.

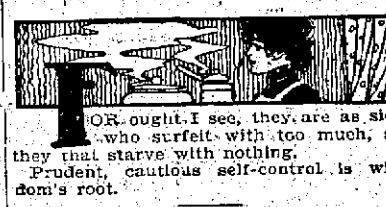

Guest—Is it? Then bring me some of your extra dry.

MILITANT SUFFRAGET OFF FOR ENGLAND;
BRITISH AUTHORITIES BADLY FRIGHTENED

British authorities have received news that Elsie McKenzie, suffraget, is on her way to England, and are badly scared. They may not permit her to land on British soil, as her militancy is of the sort that stops at nothing.

Miss McKenzie is the right-hand aid of Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, who is now in England. Mrs. Belmont believes peaceful methods will win the ballot in America, but that English women never will get the vote without fighting for it.

THE KITCHEN
CABINET

MUTTON IN THE DIET.

Mutton has always been a popular food among the Jews and in sections where sheep are raised; yet we find even in sheep states that people do not know and appreciate the value of the meat. Mutton and lamb are wholesome and the fact that sheep are rarely diseased is a great point in their favor.

Mutton is a food for the invalid, as it is commonly believed to digest easily and without causing any internal disturbance. Mutton, like beef, is almost always completely assimilated in a healthy stomach.

The advantage that mutton has over beef is that it may be used more economically, as a quarter or half of a carcass may be bought and kept in an ordinary refrigerator and the price per pound is considerably less. Beef cannot be bought in such sections, as the portion would be too large to keep. A leg of mutton can be utilized by an ordinary family with comparatively small waste.

Mutton is said to absorb odors readily and so must be carefully hung. Another important feature is the manner of dressing. If the butcher handles the wool and then touches the meat it is sure to have a strong, woolly flavor. The feeding, sex and age of course are factors which help to determine the flavor, which is said to have its origin in the fat.

When the mutton is brought into the house, whether fresh from the hands of the butcher or from the market, wipe it with a damp cloth and all portions which have any unpleasant odor about them should be cut off.

In roasting mutton a rack is desirable, as there is then no danger of any portion of the meat being scorched and spoiling the flavor of the whole.

One fact worthy of note in making broth, especially for the sick, is that the fat of mutton is easily extracted in the process of cooking, so that after the broth cools, the fat may be easily removed.

In preparing mutton broth, as all others, the object is to get as much of the nutriment and extractives into the soup as possible. This is accomplished by dividing the meat into small pieces and cooking at a very low temperature.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Lawrence, Kas., May 19.—Enthusiasm appeared to be the keynote at the opening here today of the thirtieth annual convention of the Kansas Equal Suffrage association. The convention is the first that the association has held since Kansas adopted equal suffrage and the two-day program has been arranged to celebrate the victory.

HEART and HOME
PROBLEMS

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young man twenty-one years of age.

(1) When a boy takes a young lady to a soda fountain to have something to drink, is it proper for the boy to suggest the drink or is it the young lady's position to select? Some girls seem to be ashamed to ask for a 10c drink. (2) Do you think it is right for a girl to write to a boy constantly for a year when she is already engaged to another when the other fellow is not aware of the fact? (3) Should a boy after taking a girl friend out at night and reaching her home rather early, go inside to stay awhile if she doesn't ask him to do so? (4) Is it proper to know a girl for a year and if she asks him for his picture (portrait), is it a sign that she cares much for him? (5) When tipping your hat to a lady isn't it proper to use the hand opposite the side you passed?

LADIES MAN.

(1) She should select what she wishes but he may suggest certain drinks that he thinks she might like. (2) It may be a good friend of hers and she should not turn him down because she is engaged. Of course I take it for granted that she writes him just friendly letters. (3) Not unless she invites him in. (4) She may like him pretty well, and she may be only making collection of boys' pictures. (5) Yes.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a High School girl seventeen years old.

(1) When walking in the evening or at night with a boy is it proper for him to have hold of my arm, or should I have hold of his? (2) Is it all right for a boy to kiss a girl good night? (3) Is it all right for a boy and girl to phone each other very often? If so, should the boy call the girl up, or would it be better for the girl to call the boy up? (4)

What will make finger nails grow? (5) How can you wash a chamois skin? DOROTHY D.

(1) They are both young and spry enough not to need help from each other, unless the boy wishes to assist the girl over a muddy spot or some hard place. (2) I don't think so, my dear. When boys and girls are in high school they are almost young men and young women, and should begin to train themselves in dignified ways. (3) Let him do the calling up. Most boys are over-run with girls calling them up, and so have no respect for the girls. (4) Put vaseline on them. (5) Make a suds of cold water and a good white soap. Don't rub the gloves—squeeze them, and rinse in clean soapy water; then hang out to dry.

NECESSARY ELEMENTS FOR CHRISTIAN LIFE

BELIEF, LOVE AND OBEDIENCE
ARE FUNDAMENTAL QUALITIES
SAYS DR. E. L.
EATON.

REASONS FOR FAILURE

All Three Acts Required of Person
Who Would be in Harmony
With God—Address at M.
E. Church Tonight.

"The intellect to believe, the heart to love, and the will to obey," as taught, explained and "volition," as applied by the person who is seeking complete harmony with God are the fundamentals of religion, according to Dr. E. L. Eaton of Madison, former pastor of the church of this city, in his sermon at the Cargill M. E. church yesterday morning. Dr. Eaton spoke at the church Sunday afternoon and evening. Tonight he will deliver a sermon at the same church on the topic: "After Death—What?"

In opening his discourse Sunday morning Dr. Eaton made plain that religion is a necessity, that it has a vital place in the lives of men and women everywhere. It is, something besides a "Harmless amusement," it is not only a good thing, an important thing, but also a necessity.

Certain fundamentals of religion include the conception of God, God, first of all, is a personality. He has an intellect; he can think. In addition to the intellect, God also has feeling or emotion. He will, and finally, God has a will, to do and to act, and to direct.

"The best revelation we have of God is our own souls, ourselves," said the speaker. "We, like God, are endowed with intellect, with emotional power, and with a will. To these we must add the possession of a moral conscience, and self-consciousness."

"The matter of getting ourselves in harmony with God and the world, in the first instance, involves in the fullest good of religion. It is necessary that we should believe in God. But we can be certain in our faith and still be lost. A person may be the worst kind of sinner and still have an abiding belief in the existence and power of God. To have harmony with the Creator man must use his other faculties; he must use his emotions to love God, and he must use his will to obey Him. It is required that our intellects, our hearts and our wills be dedicated to the service of the divine Master. We must think, feel and act in harmony with Him."

"The fact that God is a person and not a principle or an infinite it; that he is a great organism with power of thought, emotion and volition, doesn't depend on the revelation of the Bible, or any system of philosophy. It is a fact of our own nature and of God's. The trouble that some persons find in living Christian lives can be traced to some trouble with one or the other of these three things: their belief, their love or their obedience to God," said Dr. Eaton. "It usually isn't belief because most of us have a belief as tradition but in case there is any question we should set about to attain faith first. Dr. Eaton pointed to the examples of Lord Littleton and Gilbert West in England who confirmed Christianity as a fraud and were in the attempt converted. The case of St. Paul was indicated to show the great appeal of the Christian religion. Paul was a crank or a dune or a fraud; he was a Christian converted by the compelling truth of the Christian teaching."

There are some persons who have trouble in loving God and some who have trouble in obeying Him, and as a result they are "partial failures" as Christians. The great consolation for mortals is, said the speaker, that God has mercy on our human infirmities and only asks that we make the attempt. His aid will come to us if we only will make the decision which is half the battle.

Dr. Eaton is a pleasing and convincing speaker and talked to a crowded church Sunday morning. He also had large audiences yesterday afternoon and evening when he talked on scientific subjects. He is greatly interested in astronomy and his discourse on the phenomena of the Milky Way was most interesting.

In your hand you hold a five-cent piece.

Right at the grocer's hand is a moisture-proof package of Uneeda Biscuit. He hands you the package—you hand him the coin. A trifling transaction?

No! A remarkable one—for you have spent the smallest sum that will buy a package of good food; and the grocer has sold you the most nutritious food made from flour—as clean and crisp and delicious as it was when it came from the oven.

Rock County Association Preparing for Coming Campaign—Will Establish Circulating Library.

With the submission of the question of woman's suffrage at the next election for state officers, the Rock County Suffrage Association at its regular monthly meeting held at Library Hall Saturday afternoon was encouraged to effect a partial reorganization and discuss tentative plans for the next campaign. It has been decided to perfect ward organizations, each with its chairman, and these will be federated into a city organization. Members were named to the various committees, but all the chairmen have not been elected.

A traveling library consisting of a dozen or more books on the suffrage question in all townships and villages in the county is one of the means of active campaign will not be started for many months but preparations for its prosecution are to be made earlier. The appeal to the voters of the county will be sane, reasonable and devoid of sensationalism.

Mrs. Julia S. Lovejoy read an interesting paper on "Militancy in England," the tenor of which was that although some justification seemed to exist for the tactics of the English suffragists, there was no excuse for employing such methods in the United States. Miss Julia Lovejoy read a letter from an English suffragist, a non-militant, which threw new light on the suffrage situation in that country. The writer of the letter complained that the English reports of suffragist violence were very much exaggerated.

The English tongue, as taught in schools and governed by grammatical rules is good enough, most times; 'twas good enough for Scott and Pope when they produced their brilliant dode, their stories and their rhymes. 'Twas good enough for Shakespeare, too, who wrote "The Taming of the Shrew," and all of Bacon's plays, and Wordsworth thought it rich enough in which to frame his lays. It's good enough for those who teach, and for the gifted men who preach for jurists of renown; but when the sporting writers fall to work to write up games of ball, the tongue is out and down. They borrow something from the Greek and from the tongue the Chocaws speak and from the Eskimos they draw some symbols from the Slavs and ancient tombs are split in halves for adverbs no one knows. I read the daily yarn and then go out behind the barn where I can swear in peace; I cannot tell when all is done which team's ahead and which has won a string of eggs or geese. I wish Sam Johnson could appear, a pencil in his hand! Such men as these, with stately phrase would write about the divers plays so men could understand.

STATE CROP REPORT MOST ENCOURAGING

Madison Authorities Issue First Statement of Season in Regard to Conditions.

Madison, Wis., May 18.—The state board of agriculture today issued its first report for May, the first issued this year. It indicates that conditions in Wisconsin are much more favorable than for the same month in 1912. Reports came from all but five counties.

"The general average condition of winter wheat is 90 per cent as against 85 per cent in 1912," says the report, prepared by Secretary James C. MacKenzie. "Winter rye is 93 per cent against 91 per cent; alfalfa 87 per cent against 82 per cent; clover meadows 85 per cent against 84 per cent; timothy meadows 91 per cent against 88 per cent; pastures 88 per cent against 84 per cent."

"The acreage comparison is equally encouraging with the exception of winter rye and barley. The increase is as follows: Winter wheat—93 per cent as compared with 91 per cent in 1912; spring wheat 91 per cent against 89 per cent; spring rye 89 per cent against 82 per cent; oats 101 per cent against 91 per cent; clover meadows 101 per cent against 94; timothy meadows 98 per cent against 93. The percentage of acreage of winter rye in 1913 is 95 per cent as compared with 97 per cent in 1912; and the acreage of barley in 1913 is 95 per cent as against 102 per cent in 1912. The acreage of alfalfa for the year 1913 is reported at 107 per cent, showing a substantial increase. The percentage of abandoned winter wheat acreage for the entire state is 14 per cent, and that of abandoned winter rye acreage is 6 per cent."

"Fourteen per cent of the 1912 hay crop was still in the hands of the farmers on May 1, and the report shows that 85 per cent of the entire hay crop of the state will be consumed on the farms producing it. Sixteen per cent of the 1912 corn crop was still in the hands of the farmers May 1, and 94 per cent of the total crop of corn produced in Wisconsin will be consumed on the farms producing it."

Loss of Silage. The report shows a loss of silage amounting to approximately 5 per cent of the whole. Soil conditions were reported generally favorable although there was very little rain during April. The soil contained sufficient moisture, however, so that the growth of crops was not retarded. Subsequent to the first of May a general rainfall throughout the entire state has improved conditions materially.

The prospects for a record-breaking hay crop in Wisconsin were never better than at the present time.

"The wages paid for farm labor vary from $25 to $37 per month, the general average throughout the state amounting to $31 per month."

The Daily Novelties

THE VISE-LIKE CLUTCH
They had only had their canoe three days.

"Let's get in the wake of a ferry boat," she suggested. "They say the big waves make the boat go up and down like anything."

Overhead the sun winked one yellow eye, but the young man, because love had him in its vise-like clutch, did not notice.

"They say it's just like aeroplaning," she went on, sitting still.

So he rested on his paddle and waited for a ferry boat. The sun winked both yellow eyes; but still he did not notice, for when love has you in its vise-like clutch there's simply nothing to it.

"Here's one!" she cried. "Right in the wake! Now eyes as he shot the canoe into the bounding billows of the ferry boat's wake."

They had only had the canoe three days.

Harms Students

More Than Most Anyone Else

The Chief of the Presbyterian Hospital in N. Y., Dr. Fisher, tells one very easy way to avoid some physical ills.

His comments on

COFFEE

are most interesting—(see letter in southeast corner).

If the subject appeals to you, try leaving off coffee and tea entirely, use Instant Postum and carefully note, day by day, the return to health and strength.

A level teaspoonful of Instant Postum in an ordinary cup of hot water dissolves instantly and makes it right for most persons.

A big cup requires more, and some people who like strong things put in a heaping spoonful and temper it with a large supply of cream.

Experiment until you know the amount that pleases your palate and have it served that way in the future.

Postum comes in two forms.
Regular (must be boiled).

Instant Postum doesn't require boiling, but is prepared instantly by stirring a level teaspoonful in cup of hot water.

"There's a Reason" for POSTUM

Dr. C. Irving Fisher, for a quarter century at the head of New York's great Presbyterian Hospital, says in the New York Times of March 23, 1913.

"Coffee poisoning is becoming constantly more common in this country, especially among students, whom it harms more than it would harm almost anybody else."

"Coffee intoxication does not lead to wife beating, but its physiological effects upon some of its victims are almost as bad as those of alcoholic poisoning."

"We continually find at the various clinics signs of the harm done by the excessive use of tea and coffee among children."

"Surely this is quite preventable. Children not infrequently appear whose nervous and digestive systems have been wrecked by these two beverages."

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY
A systematic arrangement of all your affairs, especially those concerning health and wealth, will surely gain you a great advantage toward the end of the year. It is a waste of time to waste time in purposeless discussions.

The born today will be intelligent and energetic and generally fortunate. Their talents will be from growing up under narrow, bigoted surroundings, instead of the broad, scientifically correct training which will best develop their character and powers.

THE DAUGHTER OF DAVID KERR

By
HARRY KING TOOTLE

Illustrations by RAY WALTERS

The possibilities of the scheme overwhelmed Gilbert. What he was to do for Kerr, even the fight for the franchise, did not enter his mind. He was busy thinking of the freedom he could purchase in so short a time. All that he had ever dreamed of could be brought to pass. Kerr, who knew almost to a dollar the financial standing of every man in Belmont, was well aware that Gilbert had been hard hit in several stock exchange transactions, so badly in the last one that he had called upon the boss for assistance. Yet he had just told Kendall that he would have nothing more to do with that kind of work. He had begun to develop a conscience—for Julia's sake, perhaps, for his daughter's future and here came Kerr, who wanted him to go down once more into the maelstrom of shady politics for the sake of his daughter.

His gratitude for what Kerr had done for him was great enough to cause him to do anything for Kerr's daughter he could, but since the boss had put it up to him and he had back of him all the boss's power, he began to wonder why he should not accept the opportunity to make a fortune quickly. It had been held out to him as meaning leisure, travel, friends and a rosy future for his Julia. He longed for those things for himself, no less, and here was the chance of his lifetime. He would know how to make those Chicago schemers pay well for the legal advice he would give them.

"It won't be easy," said Gilbert finally. Kerr had won his first victory. The lawyer had surrendered. "That's why I came to you," was the boss's answer, a reply charged with subtle flattery. Gilbert really did represent in his autocracy the best element; a smug set, perhaps, but still the best. To other lieutenants were delegated hamper and tong jobs; Gilbert was the instrument when finesse was required.

"There's a certain element, Mr. Kerr, it will be hard to win over—that wholesale clique. You have no direct dealing with the men, and—well—that is—you see, they don't know you and they might not be interested in Gloria. They're a clanistic lot."

"I've fought many a fight, Amos, but never one like this. If it develops into a real fight, I still hold the whip hand." He raised his right arm menacingly, his hand clenched to a pugna-cious fist. "Let any silly girl sneer at my daughter, let any nunny of a boy be uncomplimentary, and I no sooner hear of it than I'll put the screws on—and then God help 'em. They don't know me! Well, they may yet."

"When can Mrs. Gilbert meet Gloria?"

"I brought her with me—she's in the carriage."

"She came with you?"

"Yes, I told her we were going to the theater. Then we stopped here on important business."

"Bring her in. I'll call Mrs. Gilbert."

While Kerr went for his daughter, the lawyer called his wife into the library and explained the situation to her as best he could in so brief a time. He only told of Gloria's belief in her father's social importance, nothing of how he had promised to introduce her. Of course his wife would never know his wages for acting as Gloria's sponsor.

"What a remarkable thing to do!" exclaimed Mrs. Gilbert when she finally realized Gloria's position.

"I think Kerr was crazy, Julia, ever to start it, but here she is in our house and we must help carry out the deception."

"But Dr. and Mrs. Hayes?"

"Who made Hayes corner?"

"But Mr. Wright? Will he meet David Kerr?"

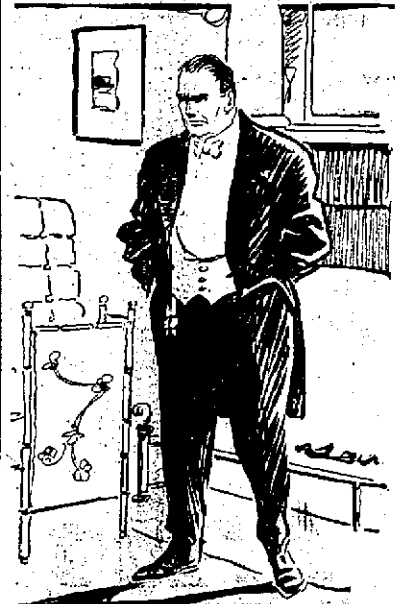

"Mr. Wright's our guest and he's a gentleman, dear."

Here was something Gilbert had not thought of. Perhaps fate was playing into his hands. He hoped so anyway. David Kerr would meet on neutral ground the man who had already caused him some uneasiness. Since the boss never called on any one, and since Wright surely would not go to see him, this was, when all was said and done, to be an important meeting.

CHAPTER IV.

Gloria could not understand why she was not of most importance, and was not a little piqued at the long wait in the cold while her father was with Judge Gilbert. Her only consolation for being late to the theater was that every one would be there to see her arrive. She knew that when she entered the box every one would turn to look at her. A harmless little thought certainly for so pretty a girl as she. She tried to beguile the time by questioning Tom, but the driver had suddenly lost his tongue, due to Kerr's order issued privately, and talked only indifferently on indifferent topics. He was grossly ignorant concerning matters which to Miss Kerr seemed of vital importance.

At last came her father with the announcement that she was to come in to meet Judge and Mrs. Gilbert. The girl was torn with conflicting emotions, being anxious to get to the theater and at the same time desirous of seeing how many years ahead of Locust Lawn was this house which she had been invited to enter. There was no reason why she could not do both, since meeting Judge and Mrs. Gilbert could mean only a few minutes' more delay. They could then hurry to the theater, and if she was pleased with these new acquaintances she would urge them to join her. Loyal though she was, she would welcome any one who would be a diversion. Gloria was quick to notice a faux pas, and certain of her father's slips of grammar and lapses from punctilious etiquette had made her wish some companionship less blunt.

At the door she was met by Judge Gilbert, who welcomed her to Belmont with great cordiality. Here was a man who understood the niceties of life. Gloria's heart went out to him almost as much for the manner of his welcome as for his genuine warmth. As David Kerr had done when he had entered the house, the daughter gazed about her as she passed through the hall, and all that she saw was given the stamp of her approval. It was just another step in her growing appreciation of Belmont as it really was. She noted also the familiar terms on which Judge Gilbert and her father were. She had never doubted her father, yet this was a pleasing affirmative vote in her theory of Belmont life which had not been without its contradictions that day.

"I wonder if you remember Mrs. Gilbert?" said the judge as he ushered Gloria into the library. At her entrance, Mrs. Gilbert, a really gracious woman, came forward to greet her.

"How do you do, Miss Gloria?" she said. "It's a pleasure to find that you've come back to Belmont."

"I'm charmed to meet you, Mrs. Gilbert. Indeed it is nice to be at home once more and I'm so glad to have you say so."

The next bit of conversation puzzled Gloria not a little. She remarked it at the time, and even thought of it once after she had returned to Locust Lawn that night.

Judge Gilbert said quietly to his wife, "Mr. Kerr, dear."

At this Mrs. Gilbert turned, bowed slightly and merely said, "Good evening, Mr. Kerr."

"How do you do, ma'am," replied

Gloria's father, to his daughter's surprise and also somewhat to her disgust. Mrs. Gilbert's greeting had been extremely brief, but her father's had been extremely provincial. Not only was it a slipshod manner of speaking, but it had been accompanied by a bow which Gloria thought uncouth. Her father had written once or twice about Mrs. Gilbert, and Gloria, after the manner of society, was fain to enlarge upon the number.

"It's been my one wish to meet you, Mrs. Gilbert," said the girl. "I went away when I was so young that I can't honestly say that I remember you, but in his letters father spoke so often of you and of visiting here. Didn't you father?"

Thus appealed to, Kerr was forced to reply.

"Yes—Oh, yes, Gloria, but never mind that now."

Judge Gilbert was quick to come to the rescue, and forestalled further embarrassing remarks by saying:

"I suppose it will be a novelty for you, Miss Gloria—living in the country."

Gloria laughed, and her answer contained due notice of what she intended to have in the immediate future.

"Father hasn't a motor car—yet, and I don't know how I'll like it."

"You'll get used to it," was Mrs. Gilbert's comment. "Locust Lawn is lovely in summer."

"But it isn't summer yet. And it makes it inconvenient when one wants to go out in the evening. I've often wondered why father didn't have a town house. He goes out so much and must be in Belmont so late at night that to my mind a town house would be a necessity. But there he sticks in the country like an old poke."

Her idea of her father's duty to himself was so strong that she turned to him to tell him just what she thought of him. During her speech Kerr had been exceedingly uncomfortable, but there was no way to stop her.

"That's just what you are, father," Gloria asserted stoutly, "for sticking in the country when you go so much in society—an old poke."

Again Judge Gilbert came to the rescue. "You forget he doesn't go out as much as when he was younger."

"Exactly. I don't get out like I did when I was younger," Kerr repeated. "I think every one will have to like me very much."

Gloria complained, with a whimsical air of doubt, "to come 'way out to Locust Lawn to see me." She knew well that they would come, but a town apartment, something modern, loomed large in her mind. These remarks were only the pioneer work preliminary to a siege.

"I'm afraid Belmont will seem mean compared to the places you have lived," suggested Mrs. Gilbert. In the short time she had been with Gloria she had seen enough to make her certain that there were breakers ahead.

"Not at all," answered the girl. Judge Gilbert was talking earnestly with her father, and this gave her a chance to confess privately to Mrs. Gilbert.

"It seems good to me because it is home, and I can do as I please without comment. I mean to live my life to the full, just as do other girls whom I visit. Except when I've been with them, it's been chaperon and school, school and chaperon for so long that I'm honestly glad to get into a house where no one rushes in every few minutes to see if I'm reading a French novel or writing love letters to the chauffeur."

Mrs. Gilbert laughed heartily at the martyrdom Gloria had suffered, and promised that such would not be her lot in Belmont. When Mr. Kerr joined them she went to summon her other guests.

"Judge Gilbert has been telling me, Gloria," Kerr began, "that things was quiet here just at this season. Now California—"

"Telling you!" repeated Gloria. Why did her father need to have any one tell him anything about Belmont? Then wasn't she excuse enough for all the gayety possible?

"Ain't got nothin' against California, have you?" Kerr asked, ignoring her exclamation.

"I don't know." She turned away from him, conscience-stricken at her tone of indecision. "I wanted to come home, yet—"

"Don't you like Locust Lawn, girl?" "Yes, yes," she answered quickly. "But—everything is so different from what I imagined it would be. Give me a little time to think about the California trip."

At that moment Mrs. Gilbert returned with the guests who for some little time had been entertaining themselves in the drawing-room.

"Mrs. Hayes and her husband were first introduced to Gloria. While they exchanged a few pleasantries, Wright, in charge of Judge Gilbert, was meeting David Kerr. It was not until Mrs. Gilbert called him to her to present

"I Am the Daughter of David Kerr."

him to Miss Kerr that the editor of the Belmont News and the daughter of David Kerr came face to face.

To the surprise of the others present Gloria gave a little scream of delight and came forward with both hands outstretched to greet the young man. He no less gave evidence of his pleasure at the meeting. His face lighted up with a smile and the way he grasped both her hands betokened his happiness at seeing her again. If the others could not share their gratification, they could at least share their surprise.

DINNER STORIES

Louis Brownlow was born in what may be described as the backwoods down south. In the course of time he straightened his plumage, flapped his wings, and sailed out into the bold and dreary world to collect for himself finance and fame. He landed on a newspaper in a southern city, and made so good on his job that his articles were plastered under his signature across the front page of his journal every day. After several months he went back home. So far as he was able to determine he was a sunburst on the horizon of journalism, and fame had hung about his feet all the lights and illuminations possible.

"Louis," asked one of the old men at the grocery store, speaking with a pronounced drawl and caressing his long, thin whiskers, "what be your line of endeavor?"

"The newspaper business," replied Brownlow, distinctly proud.

"Well, Louis," pursued the patriarch, "be you a sellin' of the papers of a settin' of the type?"

"I call him 'Corporation,'" answered the colored man.

"How did you come to give him such a name?"

But His Veracity Is Unchallenged. "And did he impugn your veracity?" ponderously inquired the plu-feathery young attorney.
